SPELLING CONTEST RESULTS COMPILED; GIRLS ARE HIGHEST

Final Standings Given Out by Supl.

Antisdel Today—Sarah Norum.

Town of Porter, Leads.

Final results of the Rock county township spelling contest have been received at the office of County Superintendent O. D. Antisdel. The contest this year really took in two additional branches of work for the pupils aside from spelling. These were arithmetic and writing. Standings were averaged and the two boys or girls having the highest average in each township are now eligible to attend the county contest which will be held in Janesville at the high school building at the time of the rural school graduation exercises, June 18.

The town of Porter made a remarkable showing. Miss Sarah Norum, who led the contestants in her township, has also the highest average for the entire county of eighty-eight. Alden Porter, second in Porter, is also second in the county. His average was eighty-seven, but a single point behind Miss Norum. Hazel Patrick of La Prairie, had an average of eighty-five. Carrie Lee, Turtle; Clarence Hagan, Union; Lillian Gossion, Avon and Edna Juleth of Porter, were bunched for fourth place, each with an average of eighty-four.

But three townships of the county failed to hold the contest. Before a contest can be legally held at least five percent of the number of schools in the township must be represented.

Following is a detailed table showing the standings and averages of the three highest pupils in their respective townships:

WORDS OF PRAISE ON CHARITABLE WORKS

Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks Writes Chairman of Local Lodge's Charity Committee.

James R. Nicholson, the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, has written F. E. Green, chairman of the Janesville lodge, a letter of praise for the charitable work of the local lodge. The letter speaks well for the lodge and its works, and is as follows:

Boston, Mass., April 18, 1916.

Mr. Frank E. Green, Chairman Charity Committee, Janesville Lodge No. 254, B. P. O. Elks, Janesville, Wisconsin.

My dear Brother Green:

I have received a letter from District Deputy Frank A. Fuller in which he encloses a statement of the work done in the way of charity by Janesville Lodge during the year ending March 18th, 1916.

I must take this occasion to compliment the lodge and the committee for this splendid effort. It is particularly pleasing to me to learn of this fine endeavor in the greatest work of our order.

I must say that the showing made by Janesville Lodge of a per capita expenditure for the year of $2.48 is deserving of great praise.

As I announced in my official circular No. 2, I intend to present a suitable testimonial to the lodge showing in its annual report the largest per capita expenditure for charitable purposes, and I am sure that Janesville will undoubtedly be well up in the list.

Again, assuring you of my keen appreciation of this fine report, and with the hope that the good work in the direction of charity will ever continue, I am, with best wishes,

Sincerely and fraternally yours,

JAMES R. NICHOLSON.

BELOITERS BACKING ALFALFA CAMPAIGN

Fully as Much Enthusiasm in Line City Over Idea as There is in This Vicinity.

At least five automobile loads of Beloit business men, together with almost as many cars with farmers living in the vicinity of the Line City are to be present on the alfalfa campaign tour of the county on next Tuesday, according to reports received today. This party will start at 7:30 o'clock, come to Janesville and point out the alfalfa business to the farmers and farmers living near here on the trip.

The Beloit Business Men's association and the Janesville Commercial club have each sent about seventy-five invitations to farmers residing near each city. All interested, even those who did not happen to have cards mailed to them, are invited to be present during the campaign, the purpose of which is to further interest in the cultivation of alfalfa and to show by concrete illustrations in fields to be planted that this great forage crop can be grown just as successfully in Rock county as in any other county of Wisconsin. Those who are reputed to be in the "know" say that while "Corn is king," alfalfa is pushing this great grain to the front.

L. A. Markham stated this morning that by tomorrow it was expected that replies to inquiries sent out would be received here, and on Friday it would be determined how many alfalfa mobiles would be necessary to carry the party from Janesville.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 59.

The striking contrast between the foods which caused the collapse of the German sailors and the foods on which they quickly recovered strength and health has become a stumbling block in the path of food authorities who persist in attributing to high caloric foods the virtues which do not belong to them.

The lesson of the Kronprinz Wilhelm is this. She has proved conclusively the inadequacy of those very foods on which America relies for strength and health. No prolonged sufferings have been conducted to determine the evil results of living exclusively on such foods. The Kronprinz has furnished that experiment. There can be no greater or more complete proof of the folly of unbalanced food by refining processes; of the folly of ignoring the meaning of the salts, colloids and vitamins natural to all unprocessed foods; of the folly of eating high caloric foods the all-around virtues which they do not possess.

Shortly after the arrival of the German cruiser at Newport News, the ship's surgeon, Dr. Perrenon, suffered with me all these points and many more. He realized the necessity of restoring to the bodies of his sick men the bases of which they had been deprived.

The formula which it was my privilege to suggest, and which was adopted by him for the treatment of the acidosis among the German sailors, was as follows:

Give each man one teaspoonful of wheat bran morning and night until contraindicated by loose stools.

"Roil cabbage, carrots, parsnips, spinach, onions, turnips together two hours. Drain off liquor. Discard residue. Feed liquor as soup in generous quantities with unbuttered whole wheat bread.

"Wash and peel potatoes. Discard potatoes. Retain the skins. Boil skins two hours. Give the liquor to men to drink, four ounces a day.

"Give to each man yolks of four eggs a day in fresh, sweet, unskimmed milk, one yolk every three hours, with as much milk as he will drink by sipping.

"At noon, with dry whole wheat bread, give one ounce fresh roast beef.

"One hour before drinking milk give juice of ripe orange, or lemon juice, diluted with water without sugar.

"Keep apples or apple sauce within reach of men all the time.

"At the end of first week let men eat solid vegetable soup as well as liquor.

"It is imperative that men shall avoid all cheese, whites of eggs, butter, lard, fat of any kind, white bread, crackers, pastry, puddings, mashed potatoes, sugar, saccharine, salt, meat, fish, pickled rice, pearled barley, degenerated cornmeal, and gravy.

"From the ship's cook, as translated by Dr. Perrenon, was obtained a chart showing what each meal consisted of prior to the breaking out of the disease among the men. This chart, not only accounts for the disease, but also for the nature of the prescription recorded above.

BREAKFAST, MONDAY.
Cheese, oatmeal, condensed milk, white bread, butter, coffee, sugar.

BREAKFAST, TUESDAY.
Sausage, white bread, butter, fried potatoes, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

BREAKFAST, WEDNESDAY.
Corned beef, white bread, butter, fried potatoes, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

BREAKFAST, THURSDAY.
Smoked ham, cheese, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

BREAKFAST, FRIDAY.
Boiled rice, cheese, white bread, butter, fried meat if desired, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

BREAKFAST, SATURDAY.
Corned beef, cheese, fried potatoes, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

BREAKFAST, SUNDAY.
Beef, rice, cheese, fried potatoes, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, MONDAY.
Pea soup, canned vegetables served in juice that stood in cans, roast beef, boiled potatoes, white bread, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, TUESDAY.
Potato soup, canned vegetables, served in juice that stood in cans; pot roast of beef, boiled potatoes, white bread, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, WEDNESDAY.
Beef soup, fried steak, fried potatoes, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, THURSDAY.
Pea soup, salt fish and pot roast, boiled potatoes, canned vegetables, served in juice that stood in cans; white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, FRIDAY.
Pea soup, salt fish and pot roast, boiled potatoes, canned vegetables, served in juice that stood in cans; white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, SATURDAY.
Potato soup, roast beef, boiled potatoes, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

DINNER, SUNDAY.
Beef soup, pot roast, canned vegetables, served in juice that stood in cans; boiled potatoes, white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, sugar.

At 4 o'clock every afternoon the men were served with a plate of Huntley & Palmer's fancy biscuits or sweet cakes with coffee, condensed milk, and sugar.

SUPPER.
Evening meal consisted either of fried steak, roast beef, corned beef hash, beef stew, with potatoes, or cold roast beef, with white bread, butter, coffee, condensed milk, and sugar.

After the prescription for the treatment of the sick sailors had been placed in his hands Dr. Perrenon wrote me as follows:

"I do not believe that with your abundant diet of fresh vegetables, fruits, baked potatoes, peanut butter and other berries you will die a dreadful death because you eat white bread.

"The fact is that I am not at all interested in changing the fixed habits of the German sailors. As far as I am concerned, I am not indulging them; I am saving their hearts' content in anything they like, provided only that they do not impose their destroying standards upon little children.

"I sympathize with the drunkard who saturates himself with whiskey. A drunkard is dying a dreadful death, but no argument, as far as he is concerned, will accomplish anything in diverting the money he spends for booze to the purchase of adequate food for his defrauded children.

"My heart does not ache for adults who have lost for breakfast or cream of wheat and an abundance of excellent vegetables and energizing fruits during the rest of the day, even though white bread should be squeezed into the plate.

"Please remember that thousands of prospective mothers and nursing mothers and growing children have no such wide variety of foods as you have it within your power to provide for your own.

"They do, however, have plenty of bread. Their whole life is made up of bread. They eat bread three times a day. Can you not see that it is necessary that such bread should be adequate?

"Can you not see that even though they are deprived of luxuries, honest means to them the richness of health, without which their lives become at least physically burdensome, not alone to themselves but to their children?

"It may be that in your comfortable state, in which a wide variety of wholesome and nutritious foods keep you well within the margin of safety, you can afford to ridicule honest bread. But do not, I beg of you, allow your self content in the presence of indisputable facts, to influence the lives of others in a direction that means disaster to themselves.

"You are not dealing with a fad or a theory. You are facing the fixed and inexorable laws of nature, the operation of which are now clearly understood.

"I am quite sure that if you assist in providing the great army of undernourished Americans with whole and wholesome bread a great happiness which you now know little of what will come up to you. This blessing with all of me heart, I wish you.

QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD

Answered by Alfred W. McCann.

Q.—I eat white bread which you call a delusion, a snare and a poison. My breakfast consists of toast, coffee and cream, or wheat. My luncheon consists of sandwiches of beef, chicken, ham, peanut butter, meat loaf, and a slice of cake. My evening meal includes your pernicious and poisonous bread, butter, white rice, baked potatoes, meat, fish, baked beans, preserved fruits, fresh fruits, dried fruits, and a plentiful supply of fresh vegetables. I am also fond of corn meal, fried, and crisp. What shall I eat if I am to escape a dreadful death?

S. A. S.

A.—Invalids sit for forty years in a wheel chair and escape dreadful death.

ARMY DRY ROT.
Lieutenant Colonel George Montkomery, commander of the Frankford Arsenal at Philadelphia, in a recent address condemned promotion in the army by seniority. He declared it the cause of dry rot. No great harm may be done by seniority, for it is busy at its work of keeping the army in its proper ranks in order. But if we some day run up against a first-class fighting machine, a price will be paid. No business would live five years if promotion was made dependent on seniority. Such a rule puts the stopper on ambition, and makes a man feel as if he owned his job and had a mortgage on the one above him. Business success depends on picking the best talent, young or old, and giving it the chance to express itself. "The tools to him who can use them" is a vital old French proverb.

Ambitious men, sure of their powers and capable of high efficiency, must find army conditions discouraging. They want to achieve success by creating it themselves, not by waiting for dead men's shoes. They are little likely to be themselves, but to the chance of some distant funeral.

There is jealousy in any group of workers when the "new man" or the young man is jumped over the heads of old-timers. The latter can't understand it and see no justice in it. In a private employment the barnacles have but one chance, to quit or keep still. They take the latter, not having confidence in their ability to succeed elsewhere.

In the government service there are many strings and wires that can be pulled to defeat promotion by merit. No doubt harmony in the service is promoted by a seniority rule. It nominally treats all alike, and the ambitious man who so easily becomes a disturbing element is practically told that if he does not wish to wait his turn, he can quit. But the more such a rule becomes effective, the more wooden army organization becomes.

TRUE KINDNESS.
Children in our schools are being taught kindness towards dumb animals and knowledge of the wonders of nature, the birds and the beasts and how they live and why. Instead of stealing birds' eggs to make a collection, or tearing down nests to add to some hidden store, the children of today are taught to love the little songsters and build houses for them, scatter food and study their habits.

The members of the Game Protective association have established a preserve north of the city where all of the wild fowl and game are safe from molestation. They also plan to make the river more attractive by liberating numerous wild ducks and swans between upper and lower dams. In fact one lover of the wild things has already many wild ducks that flutter around the river and two stately swans that preen themselves much to the delight of those who watch them.

While kindness to animals is taught in the schools, unfortunately it is not always practiced outside. Recently several small youngsters have taken a delight in stoning the ducks and swans until they are afraid to swim about as in the past and lurk along the shore with watchful eye out for the small boy and the stone. Nor is this their only enemy, for it has been observed that at least one dog owner takes delight in sickening the canine on the poor, defenseless birds to their fright and the delight of the dog and owner.

One does not often see a dog or a cat with a tin pail tied to their tails nowadays; the small boys are more civilized. Stoning song birds is forbidden and squirrels have multiplied in swarms, safe from persecution. Let something be done to protect the feathered fowls in the river and teach the small boys and dog owners a lesson that is much needed in true kindness.

INSTRUCTIVE.
"Senator Hardwick of Georgia, according to the news dispatches," says Leslie's Weekly, "does not believe in the socialistic notion that the government should enter into competition with the business concerns of the country. The government now virtually runs the railroads and it is proposed to establish its own armor plant, a nitrate industry and a line of steamships. Mr. Hardwick thinks this is not the old-fashioned Jeffersonian democracy and that the government might as well go into the shoe and clothing business. He is right. Just at a time when thoughtful men are advising preparedness for war, the government is getting ready to drive out the manufacturers of munitions on whom it must depend for supplies in an emergency. When the confederate iron-clad Merrimac threatened Washington and the coast cities of the North during the war between the states, it was the little Monitor, built in a private shipyard, with its armor plates constructed in an iron works at Troy, N. Y., that challenged the sturdy confederate cruiser and put an end to a panic which was demoralizing the north. What more significant illustration of the need of independent shipyards, munition and armor plate plants than this striking incident?"

NOT WAITING.
There is no delay in the plans for organization for the conservative republicans of the state. They realize that this is the crucial year for them and of the need to hold what they have gained through the Philipp administration, defeat La Follette for renomination to the United States senate and send M. G. Jeffris down to Washington, they must get busy.

It has been demonstrated that the primaries are designed to keep a machine organization in power and when through manipulations ten thousand votes can be turned over in Milwaukee by means of a crooked deal between scheming politicians, it is time to perfect some sort of a state-wide organization to combat this evil.

The largest portion of the press of the state, regardless of its former condition of political allegiance, is now aligned on the side of the people and the conservative republican party. They realize that the reforms that were inaugurated several years have been costly experiments and that the people have had to pay the cost of these experiments.

"God's patient poor" have decided that the idol they followed blindly is really made of clay and human, not supernatural, like themselves. It has been a hard blow to many to open their eyes to the truth, but gradually they are doing it and the result is that they are now indignant to think they have been blind to the imperfections of their leaders for so long.

This hearty presidential year also means that extra efforts will be made and the state should resound with political gossip and facts from now until primary, and from primary until election day. That the conservatives will give good account of themselves during this struggle is certain, and both Jeffris and Philipp will tour the state from end to end with an extra corps of able speakers to assist them in covering the entire ground.

After letting the grass all run out on the lawn and keeping tumble-down chicken coops in the back yard, some men will complain of their hard luck because they have to sell their houses at a big loss.

Many people can't go to church on rainy days because the weather is too bad, and they can't go on pleasant days, because the weather is too good and just right for motoring.

Many people who couldn't spare one minute to put the cover on the garbage can where flies breed, will spend a whole hour swatting the insects about the house.

Some churches are putting in moving pictures, and they are very popular up to the time when people demand that vaudeville shows be added.

It is the common thing for the girls to lead the school classes, but as the boys can beat them at baseball, they are not worrying about it.

It is believed that our government will take a firm stand that women and children should not be blown up Sundays or after 11 p. m.

On Parents' day it is learned that the school room embraces a galaxy of geniuses such as was never before assembled within four walls.

It is not necessary in order to co-operate with the town beautiful movement, to paint your house red with yellow trimmings.

The growth of prohibition seems more ominous to some people than would the total lack of rain for the grain crops.

The Shakespeare anniversary has now been thoroughly celebrated by going to see the musical comedies.

Germany generously concedes everything on condition only that we do something that can't be done.

It seems pretty mean to blow up these powder factories with July Fourth coming along so soon.

The Millinery Murder.
It takes twenty years for a mother to make a man of her son, and twenty minutes for another woman to make a fool of him. Prof. Simp.

The hero moved sprucely in from the right and stepping half way across the stage, stopping behind four little imitation rose buds.

If she does not come in half an hour she will be late," he said to himself, yet loud enough for the audience to overhear.

At that moment someone entered from the rear.

Lucile? No, it is the villain, and in his hand he is carrying a gleaming dagger that seems to have quite a point on the end. He kneels warily behind the little clump of blue ribbons.

"She comes!" exulted the hero, and Lucile stepped radiantly onto the stage from the left and disappeared behind a square buckle covered with rhinestones.

"Lucile," cried the hero.

"Gadsword," cried the heroine.

And they reappeared and fell into each other's arms.

But who is this? It is the villain, still accompanied by the hero. For an instant a slightly larger spring rosebuds hides him from view, then he stubs the hero and drags Lucile off behind the rhinestone buckle as Gadsword drops into a rather handsome algerette.

To make a mystifying story clear, the writer witnessed the scene behind a female person who didn't feel like removing her hat.

WHAT'S THE USE.
He grew so very portly that he was ashamed to go and weigh.

It seemed to him as though he gained at least 15 pounds every day.

His friends protested that he was so fat he really was a sight.

His waist line grew and grew until it worried him both day and night.

He bought a longer belt each week and deeply sighed for days of yore.

When, of a panatella shape, he weighed one hundred pounds, no more.

He read an ad one day which told him about a new fangled cure.

Which would relieve him of his flesh in a manner that was safe and sure.

He bought some of the Anti-Fat and took it on his daily rounds.

He took nine bottles, then he weighed and found that he'd gained forty pounds.

And that it is caused by uric acid; that it is constitutional, etc., and that nothing can be done."

Time and time again such statements have been made, and of which are now being absolutely and positively proven to be old fashioned and out-of-date, by hundreds of modern, progressive dentists.

When local irritation is removed, and the New School Treatment is administered, it follows that a cure, or perfect comfort, is the result of such treatment.

No matter what phase of faulty metabolism exists—in every case, if treated before the tissues are so hopelessly destroyed that the teeth are ready to drop from the mouth, the cure comes rapidly and certainly.

These old fashioned teachings, about uric acid, faulty metabolism, constitutional causes, etc., give to the indolent or honestly wavering Dentists a welcome excuse to fold their hands and join the "nothing-can-be-done ranks."

Good Roads Committee Finds Town Supervisors and Chairmen Enthusiastic for Better Roads.

Members of the Good Roads committee of the Janesville Commercial Club this week are conducting an enthusiastic campaign to interest town supervisors and town boards and the youngsters of the country in the idea of better highways.

According to reports brought back by committee members who visited various sections yesterday, enthusiasm is high, both on the part of the supervisors and also among the youngsters who are to be the main entry blanks. They are also talking about the trip in the fall. Suggestions have already been made by the boys and it is hoped that will be given further good consideration by the committee, that the journey this year, be made to Lake Geneva. They desire to visit the lake and see the famous Swiss Alps. There are also a number of farms in the neighborhood and route to the lake and these will also prove of interest. One in fact will be well worth a visit, that of the late Edward Tilden, which is near Delany Lake.

The Good Roads committee of this year have planned to give a pair of ring necked pheasants to the boy doing the best road work in his township. The Good Roads committee of the Rock County Game Protective association is co-operating with the committee in this respect. This announcement was made to the boys yesterday.

Among the supervisors co-operating and interesting the boys of their district in the work are: George R. Campbell of the town of Rock, R. E. of Turtle, J. W. H. of Haverhill, C. D. McCarthy of Porter, R. H. Snyder of Clinton, H. B. Moseley of Belmont, George W. Hull of Johnston, M. E. Ehrlich of Plymouth, and Thomas H. Steele of Union. All of the above either have or will be visited by a representative of Commercial Club.

Out of the town of Harmony the boys have already started their road dragging. At the present time the roadways are in far better condition than they have been without the roadwork following which raised havoc with roads throughout the county. In other sections the work has started and will be in excellent shape in the near future, where the town boards are offering encouragement to the boys.

COUNTY BOYS PLANT DENMARK BEECHNUTS

Get Them From George S. Parker, Who Received Shipment From National Forestry.

Rock county farmer boys visited yesterday in the interest of the good tree contest, by George S. Parker of this city, are going out the raising of beech-nuts. Although the cultivation will not be on a very extensive scale, nevertheless the boys are planning to plant the nuts to determine whether or not they can be grown successfully in Rock county.

Mr. Parker, some years ago while on a European tour, visited the city of Copenhagen, at or near Copenhagen. He was interested at the great acreage devoted to the cultivation of beech-nuts and desired some of the nuts. After considerable research he was able to secure them. He is now planning to plant them to see if they can be grown successfully in Rock county.

While in the country yesterday visiting the boys, he was in the good roads contest. Mr. Parker distributed a handful of the nuts to each. The youngsters were pleased to receive them and all announced their intention of cultivating them. North of Janesville the nuts are being grown successfully.

TEN DOLLAR COAL IS NOW PREDICTED

Per Ton Price at Present Time Fifty Cents Over Last Quotation—Wage Increase Reason.

Speculation as to the price of another coal next winter is rife among Janesville business men. This morning came the statement that ten dollar coal was easily a possibility. A fifty cent per ton increase in the local retail price of hard coal occurred in this city. This is explained to be the result of the concessions granted to Pennsylvania mine workers. On the miners' demand for higher wages being complied with the wholesale price of anthracite advanced from ten to thirty cents per ton. The local coal at present time here is selling for nine dollars per ton, and in some instances as low as eight dollars and seventy-five cents. One office reported no figures available as to the local coal price. The charge for heating coal this fall and winter, were able to state an increase from twenty-five to fifty cents at least could be expected. There seems to have been no change in the price of the kinds of coal. Pocahontas still sells for seven-fifty, Illinois for five, canal for about eight-twenty-five and coke at seven-fifty.

Comerford, formerly of Superior, now chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state, decided to surprise his wife the other day, on the occasion of their wedding anniversary, by adding a brand new shiny flivver to the family car. To settle the question as to who was the thief, the owner of the car, the police telephone the office of the secretary of state, but in asking for the man who held the number of the car, the officers found that the number was held by a man at Beloit.

In the meantime "Bill" arrived home, fully expecting joyous reception. Instead he was told of the curious events of the morning. The details of the rest of the story are rather obscure, but it is said that William Comerford has the record in Madison for making a dash through space corresponding to the distance between the apartments where he lives and the police station.

CLASH IS EXPECTED AT CHURCH MEETING

Radical and Conservative Side of the Presbyterian Church on Edge at Conference Meeting.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Atlantic City, May 18.—The long expected clash between the radical and the conservative elements of the Presbyterian church is likely to develop at the 128th general conference, which began here today, from the action of the Presbytery of Cincinnati demanding that the New York Presbytery be cut off from membership in the general assembly.

A resolution was adopted at the last general assembly requiring that all presbyteries admit no candidates who were graduates from theological seminaries considered heretodox in their teachings.

The action of the New York Presbytery in licensing three graduates of the Union Theological seminary of New York, against which this resolution was recently directed, is regarded as a direct challenge by the conservatives.

The Union seminary, although some of its faculty are members of the New York Presbytery, has no connection with that body. The other theological seminaries of the Presbyterian church are under the care of the various presbyteries in whose boundaries they are situated.

One of the conservative strongholds, although there is a large liberal element there, is the Presbytery of Cincinnati. Under its care is the Lane Theological seminary, long a chancel of orthodox. Other presbyteries where the conservatives are strong are Chicago, where McCormick Theological seminary is situated, and Pittsburgh, which is sponsor for the Western Theological seminary.

The feeling between the New York Presbytery and Cincinnati is especially strong because within the territory of each is a seminary which represents the two elements in the Presbyterian church.

One of the leaders in the Presbytery of Cincinnati is the Rev. William McKibbin, the head of Lane Theological seminary. He was the prosecutor of the Rev. Henry Preserved Smith, accused of heretical teachings, a brilliant theologian who left the congenial surroundings of Lane and is now connected with Union.

The fight is on between Lane and Union, between conservatism and radicalism. Owing to the delicacy of the situation delegates to the general assembly at Atlantic City decline to speak for publication concerning it, but do not conceal that they expect a battle in the convocation. Whether or not the New York Presbytery will be forced out of all relations with the assembly remains to be seen.

The indications are that the conservative forces will prevail and that they will at least succeed in passing a resolution of censure upon the New York Presbytery for having licensed three graduates from an institution under the ban of the conservative wing.

If the New York body is cut out there are many who think it means that all its property will go too. This means that the Presbyterian church will lose more than $21,000,000. The church buildings alone are valued at $18,220,598. The extension committee represents more than $2,000,000 and the trustees of presbytery control more than $1,000,000.

If this transpires, the boards of the church will lose the incomes of more than $1,500,000 annually. The total benevolences last year were $1,574,803.

CAN PRODUCE PULP FROM WOOD WASTE

Result of Experiments at Forest Products Laboratory Demonstrates

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., May 18.—As a result of laboratory experiments the utilization of fat stumps and other highly combustible wood waste by the extraction of valuable products looks more promising than it has. Steam distillation only recovers the volatile constituents of the wood, while by destructive distillation the turpentine, pitch, and other products are recovered and a lower value than the steam distilled. But under these processes there has been no use for the wood after the products have been extracted.

The federal forest products laboratory has taken up this last problem and has successfully used this wood waste for the production of pulp, producing experimentally a good second grade kraft. This solution has frequently been suggested, but for efficient extraction under present conditions it has been necessary to chip the wood too fine for pulp making. Two sizes of chips, three-sixteenths and five-eighths of an inch, were used in the experiments, because these were considered the minimum suitable for pulp. With this material the laboratory has succeeded in extracting over 90 per cent of the resin, and the extracted chips were then manufactured into second grade kraft. The addition of this product to the elimination of the waste should add considerably to the commercial success in the extraction of resinous wood, according to officials at the laboratory.

State Board of Agriculture Takes Steps to Enforce Regulations to Safeguard Health.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., May 18.—The Wisconsin department of agriculture has taken steps to enforce regulations for sanitation upon the grounds of all agricultural fairs in the state, including those of restaurants and eating houses. Special requirements will be imposed for toilets. Plans, specifications, or for fairs have been prepared for toilets for fairs. Plans have been prepared by the state board of health, and were mailed this week to the secretaries of all county and district fairs with a recommendation for their adoption signed by Commissioner C. P. Norwood.

The steps have been determined upon by the two departments acting jointly. The same rules and regulations will be enforced at the state fair as are now being required for county fairs.

Existing unsanitary toilets will be unconditionally condemned by the state board of health and must be either remodeled and made sanitary or replaced with a reasonable number of wash basins should be provided for the health and comfort of the public either in connection with toilet facilities or at some other convenient place. Where public water supply is not available, water-flushed toilets are required.

It is also recommended that where possible, sanitary drinking fountains shall be provided. All fair associations are advised to use every precaution to safeguard the drinking water supply. A reasonable number of wash basins should be provided for the health and comfort of the public either in connection with toilet facilities or at some other convenient place. Where public water supply is not available, water-flushed toilets are required.

The state's demands in these respects are emphasized in full detail in the instructions mailed by the state board of health to fair secretaries.

JACK BARRYMORE ASSUMES NEW ROLE

Popular Star Plays Would-be Crook in "The Lost Bridegroom" at the Apollo.

John Barrymore, who made himself pay in his laughable adventures in "Are You Mason?" and "Nearly a Kingdom," was seen yesterday at the Apollo Theatre in an entirely new role. In "The Lost Bridegroom" he produced a stirring, humorous combination of both laughter and thrills. Bertie Joyce, the role assumed by Barrymore, was a young society chap who was struck on the head by thugs while returning from his bachelor dinner on the eve of his marriage to Dorothy Harden. His memory completely obliterated by the blow, Joyce wanders into a band of crooks, who use his hands in the business. His whereabouts was not discovered until he was taken by the band to his fiancée's home and caught there by the police in an attempt at robbery.

This farcical tale of the events of the story will not begin until the idea of the rich comedy which this inevitable farceur injected into the play, both in the society scenes, which show his life in his natural surroundings, and the remainder of the film which took him to the slums and into a den of thieves.

NEWS NOTES from MOVELAND BY DAISY DEAN

The advent of hot weather has not influenced Hoolbrook Blinn to take life any easier. Just at present he is working at the studio in "The Prima Donna's Husband," which will be released next month, and at the same time is co-starring with Margaret Anglin in "A Woman of No Importance" at a Broadway theatre.

Like so many stars of the legitimate stage, Mr. Blinn hails from San Francisco. He was educated there and at Leland Stanford university. He first went into business, but soon found he could not be happy except on the stage. His rise has been gradual, but today his friends insist that he has earned the right to wear his historic toga of the late Richard Mansfield.

AS ODD "MR. GOODE" HOPPER ISN'T BAD.
"Mr. Goode, the Samaritan," is the title of De Wolf Hopper's third picture, which will be released the last of this month. Ray Fitcher, previously the huge comedian's pet role in "Don Quixote" and "Sunshine Dad," again has the principal feminine role.

Hopper is Alphonse Irving Goode, a phlegmatic character whose wife and daughter are snobbish. Having discharged the chauffeur for some petty reason the Goodes start on a motor trip with the daughter, Evelina, at the wheel. She is soon replaced by her father and trouble begins.

He stalls the engine and later throws in the reverse, the car bumps a tree and is wrecked. Mr. Goode is arrested for theft and thrown into jail. Conditions here are so vile that he is moved to reform all parties, at which the man who is in the picture is also present. On this foundation Hopper and his associates erect an elaborate structure of fun.

"Armandine," a screen version of Wilkie Collins' famous novel of the same name, will be the first of the new three-reel features to be released. It is a story of a young man, Alexander Gaden, who is the featured player. It will be released May 25.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.
"The Hav" Tonight With Gladys Hanson.

A theme to test the capabilities of an actor to the very best he possesses is "The Havoc," Essanay multiple reel feature. The play, which hinges upon the activities of three persons is a story of a man, a woman, and a child, leading parts, Lewis W. Stone, of "The Misdemeanor," "Inside of the Lines" and other stage successes, and Gladys Hanson, Frohman leading woman, appear as stars, but where could Essanay and anyone more apt to the part of the young "heavy" than Bryant Washburn.

The author must have had Washburn's type in mind when he wrote the piece which has had a successful run on the stage. The popular Essanay star has done some of his best work in the screen version. The "heavy" role has been given to Washburn's until the last year or two when he appeared as the lead in Essanay pictures.

In "The Havoc" this popular motion picture star finds a part which gives him an opportunity to exhibit his talents to their utmost extent. He plays the part of the handsome young man, whom the wife of his employer falls in love. All three live in the same house. The possibilities for situations are thus indicated.

AT THE APOLLO.
House Peters Tonight.

The combination of a brilliant author, noted picture star and master director seldom been used to greater advantage than in the World Film five reel feature, "The Hand of Peril" to be seen at the Apollo theatre tonight.

This story is by Arthur Stringer, whose tale of mystery and crime fiction are known throughout the world; the star is House Peters, one of the most natural and appealing screen actors of the country, and the picture was directed by that brilliant craftsman, Maurice Tourneur.

The story of "The Hand of Peril" is, as its title indicates, an absorbing narrative of sensational exploits and the daring deeds of a government detective. The hero is James Kester, a familiar figure to all who have read the recent stories of Mr. Stringer in the magazine. A delightful love interest runs through the picture and Director Tourneur has made remarkable use of the many opportunities for unique and startling stage effects suggested by the fertile fancy of the author.

AT THE APOLLO.
Magnificent Scenes in "Undine."

The fashion writers of fairyland must have a terrible struggle to keep their departments interesting, if the advance promises for "Undine," the Bluebird photoplay to be seen at the Apollo theatre on Friday, may be taken as a guide. The screen version of Pierre de La Motte Fouquet's fairy-tale has been made true to the legendary description of mythological mermaids and dresses. Mermaids are mermaids and fairies are all (or that little) that they are presumed to be in the photoplay.

In the first place, Henry Otto, who directed "Undine" for Bluebird features, picked out the most warm water of the Pacific ocean in which Miss Ida Schnall and a few more attendant swimming experts, of faultless physical proportions, might disport themselves while acting the part of satellites to Queen Unda, mistress of the under-sea.

As nymphs and mermaids know absolutely nothing about high-heeled shoes, short skirts, flowing trains and evening gowns, the matter of costumeing became at once a problem. That was not with the girls wrapped in seaweed, sheltered by the bright rays of the sun or hidden close to the surface by the clear waters of the Pacific, the camera-man took every possible advantage of his opportunity to picture the graceful lines and equally graceful contortions of the swimming, diving and playful nymphs.

Miss Ida Schnall, who enacts the title role in "Undine," is famed for her physical perfections.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.
Fine Yacht Burned Up in Staging "Cross Currents."

Big scenes mark "Cross Currents," the new Fine Arts film play, which is to be shown at the Beverly Theatre next Saturday. A real thriller is the destruction of a beautiful yacht by fire. There is a merry party of society people enjoying a voyage through a quiet sea, with the moon shining peacefully down upon them. A careless deck hand sets fire to some gasoline, and the good ship is soon in flames. The guests and the servants rush around madly in a panic as the flames envelop them, and there is a hasty launching of boats, but before all can escape the ship is blown up by a tremendous explosion.

There are some great pictures of a desert island with the rank vegetation of the tropics. There is a fight to the death between a man and a woman, in which all hope seems lost for her till she fortunately lays hand on a big bowie knife and saves herself, stabbing him. A wonderful effect is produced after the suicide of the heroine in the sea, for the face of her younger sister, when her spirit appears in an unearthly and ghostly guise that is awe inspiring in its effect.

SIR JOHN JELICOE IS POPULAR HERO IN ENGLAND'S FILM HOUSES
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
London, May 18.—The best cheered man in England is Sir John Jellicoe. The silent little admiral who sits on the British navy lid is today England's most popular hero.

This message comes from the British movie theatres—a reliable barometer of public sentiment.

Lord Kitchener's face on the screen always gets "a hand."

Sir John French is sometimes cheered.

Murmurs of probable admiration roll through the audiences when Sir Douglas Haig, Sir Charles Monro or other British generals in the field show up.

Members of the cabinet are met with approval always, but no loud demonstrations are greeted silently.

But sit in any British movie theatre and let the operator throw the strong, tanned, broad faced face of Sir John Jellicoe on the kaleidoscope and the tumult of hand clapping and cheering rolls forth from stalls to gallery.

Holbrook Blinn.

As a screen artist he has won success in "The Boss," "The Ivory Snuff Box," "The Family Cupboard," "The Butterfly on the Wheel," and "Life's Whirlpool."

Lucille Taft, Kathleen Butler, Henry W. Pemberton, John Macklin, John Reinhard, Charles H. Travis, Henry Chira and James Levering are included in the supporting cast.

Mother love, which inspires an all-encompassing sacrifice, is the theme of "The Courtisan." Eugene Fode, long a favorite with film followers, is seen in the leading role, that of a mother who sacrifices all that her son may rise to political leadership. The piece was staged under the direction of Arthur Maude.

Douglas Fairbanks is now writing his own scenarios.

Mary was not looking at her; she was staring straight before her at the wall, her eyes wide and shining. She became visibly a little paler as Sibyl looked at her. "After nothing on earth but to get his finger in that old man's money-hole, over there next door!" The voice was vulgar, the words were vulgar—and the plain truth was vulgar! How it rang in Mary Vertrees' ears! The clear mirror had caught its own image clearly in the faded one at last. Sibyl put forth her best bid to clinch the matter. She offered her bargain. "Now, don't you worry," she said, smiling, "about this setting Edith against you. She'll get over it after a while. And another thing—I guess you won't mind Jim's own sister-in-law speaking of it. "They arrived at the Pump Works, and for an hour here Favre was personally conducted and personally instructed by the founder and president, the buzzing queen bee of those buzzing hives.

"Now I'll take you for a spin in the country," said Sheridan, when at last they came out to the car again. "We'll take a breezer." "But, with his foot on the step he paused to hail a neat young man who came out of the office smiling a greeting. "Hello, young fellow!" Sheridan said, heartily. "On the job, are you, Jimmie? Ha! They don't catch you off of it very often, I guess, though I do hear you go automobile ridin' in the country sometimes with a mighty fine-lookin' girl settin' up beside you!" He roared with laughter, clapping his son upon the shoulder. "That's all right with me—if it is with her! So, Jimmie? Well, when we go in to move into your new warehouses? Monday?"

"Sunday, if you want to," said Jim. "No!" cried his father, delighted. "Don't tell me you're going to keep your word about dates! That's no way to do contractin'! Never heard of a contractor yet didn't want more time." "They'll be all ready for you on the minute," said Jim. "I'm going over both of 'em now, with Links and Sheridan, from foundation to roof. I guess they'll pass inspection, too!" "Well, then, when you get through with that," said his father, "you go and take your girl out ridin'. By George! you've earned it! You tell her you stand high with me!" He stepped into the car, waving a waggish farewell, and when the wheels were in motion again, he turned upon his companion a broad face literally shining with pride. "That's my boy Jimmie!" he said. "Fine young man, yes," said Herr Favre.

"I got two o' the finest boys," said Sheridan, "I got two o' the finest boys God ever made, and that's a fact, Mr. Farver! Jim's the oldest, and I tell you they got to get up the day before if they expect to catch him in bed! My other boy, Roscoe, he's always to the good, too, but Jim's a wizard. You saw them two new-process warehouses, just about finished? Well, Jim built 'em. I'll tell you about that, Mr. Farver." And he recited this history, describing the new process at length; in fact, he had such pride in Jim's achievement that he told Herr Favre all about it more than once.

"Fine young man, yes," repeated the good Muenchener, three-quarters of an hour later. They were many miles out in the open country by this time. "He is that!" said Sheridan, adding, as if confidentially: "I got a fine family, Mr. Farver—the children. I got a daughter now; you take her and put her anywhere you please, and she'll shine up with any of 'em. There's culture and refinement and society in this town by the carload, and here lately she's been gettin' right in the thick of it—her and my daughter-in-law, both. I got a mighty fine daughter-in-law, Mr. Farver. I'm goin' to get you up for a meal with us before you leave town, and you'll see—and, well, sir, from all I hear the two of 'em been holdin' their own with the best. Myself, I and the wife, never had time for much o' that kind o' doin's, but it's all right and good for the children; and my daughter she's always kind of taken to it. I'll read you a poem she wrote when I got you up at the house. She wrote it in school and took the first prize for poetry with it. I tell you they don't make 'em any smarter 'n that girl, Mr. Farver. Yes, sir; take us all round, we're a pretty happy family; yes, sir. Roscoe hasn't got any children yet, and I haven't ever spoke to him and his wife about it—it's kind of a delicate matter—but it's about time the wife and I saw some grand-children growin' up around us. I certainly do banker for about four or five little curly-headed rascals to take on my knee. Boys, I hope, o' course; that's only natural. Jim's got his eye on a mighty splendid-lookin' girl, lives right next door to us. I expect you heard me joshin' him about it back yonder. She's one the ole blue-bloods here, and I guess it was a mighty good stock—to raise her! She's one these girls that stand right up and look at you! And pretty! She's the prettiest thing you ever saw! Good size, too; good health and good sense. Jim'll be just right if he gets her. I must say it tickles me to think o' the way that boy took hold o' that job back yonder. Four months and a half! Yes, sir."

He expanded this theme once more, and thus he continued to entertain the stranger throughout the long drive. Darkness had fallen before they reached the city on their return, and it was after five when Sheridan allowed Herr Favre to descend at the door of his hotel, where boys were shrieking extra editions of the evening paper.

He expanded this theme once more, and thus he continued to entertain the stranger throughout the long drive. Darkness had fallen before they reached the city on their return, and it was after five when Sheridan allowed Herr Favre to descend at the door of his hotel, where boys were shrieking extra editions of the evening paper.

Sheridan had decided to conclude his day's work early that afternoon, and at about two o'clock he left his office with a man of affairs from foreign parts, who had traveled far for a business conference with Sheridan and his colleagues. Herr Favre, in spite of his French name, was a gentleman of Bavaria. It was his first visit to our country, and Sheridan took pleasure in showing him the sights of the country's finest city.

"Now, good night, Mr. Farver," said Sheridan, leaning from the car to shake hands with his guest. "Don't forget I'm goin' to come around and take you up to—Go on away, boy!"

A newsboy had thrust himself almost between them, yelling, "Extra! Second Extra. Extra, all about the horrible accident. Extra!" "Get out!" laughed Sheridan. "Who wants to read about accidents? Get out!"

The boy moved away philosophically. "Extra! Extra!" he shrieked. "Three men killed! Extra! Millionaire killed! Two other men killed! Extra! Extra!" "Don't forget, Mr. Farver," Sheridan completed his interrupted farewells. "I'll come by to take you up to our house for dinner. I'll be here for you about half-past five tomorrow afternoon. Hope you enjoyed the drive as much as I have. Good night—good night!" He leaned back, speaking to the chauffeur. "Now you can take me around to the Central City barber shop, boy. I want to get a shave 'fore I go up home."

"Extra! Extra!" screamed the newsboys, zigzagging among the crowds like bats in the dusk. "Extra! All about the horrible accident! Extra!" It struck Sheridan that the papers sent out too many "extras"; they printed "extras" for all sorts of petty crimes and casualties. It was a mistake, he decided, critically. Crying "Wolf!" too often wouldn't sell the goods; it was bad business. The papers would "make more in the long run," he was sure, if they published an "extra" only when something of real importance happened.

"Extra! All about the horrible accident! Extra!" a boy squawked under his nose, as he descended from the car. "Go on away!" said Sheridan gruffly, though he smiled. He liked to see the youngsters working so noisily to get on in the world.

But as he crossed the pavement to the brilliant glass doors of the barber shop, a second newsboy grasped the arm of the one who had thus cried his wares.

"Say, Yaller!" said this second hoarse with awe, "n't chew know who that is?" "Who?" "It's Sheridan!" "Jest!" cried the first, staring in amazement.

At about the same hour, four times a week—Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday—Sheridan stopped at this shop to be shaved by the head barber. The barbers were negroes, he was their great man, and it was their habit to give him a "reception," his entrance being always the signal for a flurry of jocular hospitality, followed by general excesses of briskness and gaiety. But it was not so this evening.

The shop was crowded. Couples of the "extra" were being read by men waiting and by men in the latter stages of treatment. "Extras" lay upon vacant seats and showed from the pockets of hanging coats.

"Now, Good Night, Mr. Farver." There was a loud chatter between the practitioners and their recumbent patients, a vocal charivari, which stopped abruptly as Sheridan opened the door. His name seemed to fizz in the air like the last sputtering of a firework; the barbers stopped shaving and clipping; lathered men turned their prostrate heads to stare, and there was a moment of amazing silence in the shop.

Dinner Stories

In Washington the colored servants, as a rule, go to their own homes at night. The cook in the family of a clergyman not only does this, but of late has frequently arrived at the rectory too late to cook breakfast.

each breakfast missed, there would be a reduction in her weekly wages. Hence her mistress told her that, for

Maria passively assented to this. The next day the mistress heard this conversation between the maid next door and the delinquent cook: "Pears to me you git to work mighty late."

"I gits to work when I gits ready."

"How does yo' manage de breakfast?" "Oh, I pays de missus to cook de breakfast."

Miss Beiden was an earnest church worker. She had a large class of Sunday school pupils, many of whom lived in a squalid section of the city.

One morning she gave them a lecture on untruthfulness and urged earnestly to impress upon them the necessity of being truthful at all times and under all conditions.

"I hope," she said, "that every one of you will try always to tell the truth. If any of you would like to ask any questions on this subject, I would be pleased to answer."

A hand in the rear of the room was raised. "Teacher," inquired a boy, "is it a lie if nobody ever knows?"

"Dad," asked the son of a Philadelphia lawyer, "just what is a test case?"

"A test case, my son," replied the father, "is a case brought to decide whether there's enough in it to justify the lawyers in working up similar cases."

COMMON AMERICAN BIRDS. INTERESTING INFORMATION ABOUT THEM SUPPLIED BY THE BUREAU OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY OF THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Length, about six and one-half inches. Range: Breeds in the United States (west to Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana), southern Canada, Mexico, and Guatemala; winters in the southern half of the eastern United States and south to Guatemala.

Habits and economic status: The bluebird is one of the most familiar tenants of the farm and dooryard. Everywhere it is hailed as the harbinger of spring, and wherever it chooses to reside it is sure of a warm welcome. This bird, like the robin, phoebe, house wren, and some swallows, is very domestic in its habits. Its favorite nesting sites are crannies in the farm buildings or boxes made for its use or natural cavities in old apple trees. For rent the bird pays simply by destroying insects, and it takes no toll from the farm crop.

The bluebird's diet consists of 68 per cent of insects to 32 per cent of vegetable matter. The largest items of insect food are grasshoppers and beetles next, while caterpillars stand third. All of these are harmful except a few of the beetles. The vegetable food consists chiefly of fruit pulp, only an insignificant portion of which is of cultivated varieties. Among wild fruits elderberries are the favorite. From the above it will be seen that the bluebird does no essential harm, but on the contrary eats many harmful and annoying insects.

Massage for Nervousness. Light—that is, surface—massage is a good corrective for nervousness. Deep, seeking-the-bone massage, which is used for liver complaint and for obesity, is too severe for the nervous patient. Besides, so many of the nerves lie so near the skin that the region of the skin is the real seat of operation for cure. Light massage by coaxing the blood to the surface and inducing a new and stronger interflow among them feeds the nerves and strengthens them.

RACES AT JAMAICA ATTRACTS NEW YORK

Spring Meeting of the Metropolitan Jockey Club on the Jamaica Course Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Jamaica, L. I., May 18.—Racing's inaugural in New York will be at the spring meeting of the Metropolitan Jockey club, on the Jamaica course today. The nominations for the stakes to be decided now and during the second meeting, from June 15 to June 23, total 542 entries, an excess of seventy-two over last year.

August Belmont is president of the association and one of the best known horsemen in the country. "We are, I believe, entering upon a new era in sport in this country," he said. "The turf has made a host of new friends who will play an important part in the development of the sport. The purchase of so many highly bred English and French horses will insure stronger competition."

"Entries everywhere for stakes show a gratifying increase over last year and we shall now have a chance of testing the merits of our horses with those of foreign countries whose opportunities have been greater than ours. The presence of upward of 200 of these animals in this country, going to mean much to the future of the thoroughbred, especially in its relation to the breeding industry. The production of good horses has always been more of an art than a science, but in the light of what is transpiring in Mexico, where I note our cavalry is suffering because of a lack of horses that are capable of negotiating the rugged country, it becomes an imperative duty."

Governor Whitman, in reply to a recent query, said the Hughes legislation had accomplished all that could be done to prevent race track betting, and that the people of New York state did not believe that it had been a serious blow to the racing industry.

Forty-eight nominations have been received for the Excelsior Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a sixteenth, the "classic" of the Jamaica track. This is as against thirty-seven last year.

The nominations for the Excelsior include August Belmont's Stromboli, owned by J. M. G. from Villa Nova, and winner of the King county handicap; Roamer, Sharpshoot, The Finn, Tartar, winner of the Long Beach handicap last season; Flying Fairy, Trill by J. M. G. from Villa Nova, which captured the Paumonok at the last meeting; Silica, Capra, Roly, Buckin, Borrow, Cesta, Prince Henry, Gheio Girl, Harry Shaw, Boots and Benevolent.

The three-year-olds named to make their first appearance in the north in the Excelsior include Bromo, Dominant, Chic, Achievement, Celandra, Spur, Frier Rock, White Horse, Newbie, Old Koenig, Lena Misna and Chaparril.

An increase in the added money for all overnight events is announced. The purse for an afternoon race charged, will be of $500, $500 or $700, respectively, for selling, condition and handicap events.

RIVALS AT FOOTBALL IN COLLEGE BECOME COACHES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) East Lansing, Mich., May 18.—Coach Frank Sommer, who comes to M. A. C. from Villa Nova college to succeed John F. Macklin as director of athletics, was recommended to the M. A. C. authorities by Macklin and on that fact a story clings.

Macklin and Sommer were students at the University of Pennsylvania. They were candidates for the football team. They were line-men. Each fought for the other's position and Macklin won. When the latter left the university, Sommer stepped into his shoes. Sommer played the same sort of crashing, aggressive football that Macklin did and it is said that his coaching methods are much the same.

JIM CRAIG, MICHIGAN'S FAMOUS HALF BACK, IS A SKIPPY AT DETROIT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Detroit, May 18.—Jimmie Craig, one of the greatest half-backs who ever starred for the University of Michigan, has been appointed fleet captain of the Detroit Boat club. Craig is a clever skipper having won several cat-bow races last season. His brother, Ralph, Olympic champion in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, also intends to show his athletic class in yachting events this season.

HEAVY HITTING WINS GAMES FOR THE CUBS

Williams and Schulte Drive Out Homers and Packard Gets Three Safe Blows.

Home runs by Williams and Schulte won for the Cubs at Chicago Wednesday, when they trimmed Brooklyn 7 to 2. The playing of Mulligan and McCarty put life into the Cubs' defense and the infield spoiled Brooklyn's chance of scoring a winning number of runs.

Packard came in for three hits, two of them doubles, and Williams got a homer, a double and two singles. Schulte's four-ply wallop came with one on the baseline. Pfeiffer and Appleton were the victims of the Cubs' slugging.

Rain kept the Sox idle again yesterday, and for three days straight the Sox have not been in action. The Sox open today against Mack's youngsters at Philadelphia. Fournier will be shifted to the outfield and John Collins put at first base in hopes that the Sox will recover their pace.

By pounding Meadows and Steele for numerous extra-base drives and stealing the cushions over Catcher Snyder, New York Nationals beat St. Louis at St. Louis by the score of 9 to 3. The victory pulled the Giants out of last place.

The sensational itching of Elmer Myers, Mack's lanky right hander, has been the feature of the last ten days in baseball. Myers won three full nine inning games during the week, and did not allow more than five hits in any one game. In turning the trick Myers defeated the three best hurlers in the American, even to Walter Johnson.

JENNINGS SAYS JOHNSON IS FASTER THAN AMOS RUSSELL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Detroit, May 18.—Manager Jennings of the Detroit Tigers recently paid an unusual tribute to the pitching of Walter Johnson. The Detroit manager, unlike most of the stars of the old school, believes that the Washington twirler has a better fast ball than Amos Russett, of the New York Giants, had in his prime.

"I have never battled against Johnson but I have battled against Russett," said Jennings. "I used to let myself get hit by Russett's fast one. I do not believe, however, that I would take a chance on moving my body in to Johnson's shot. I hardly believe that Johnson throws a speedier ball than Russett but he sends up a heavier ball. It hurts more."

NO CIGARETTE SMOKING FOR PLAYERS AT MICHIGAN.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Ann Arbor, Mich., May 18.—Harry Tuttle, trainer of the Detroit American football team, has issued a rule that no cigarette smoking is allowed on the team's premises.

The three-year-olds named to make their first appearance in the north in the Excelsior include Bromo, Dominant, Chic, Achievement, Celandra, Spur, Frier Rock, White Horse, Newbie, Old Koenig, Lena Misna and Chaparril.

St. Patrick's Church Five, Champs of Church League

Though some weeks have passed since the close of the church basketball league the final closing banquet has not yet been held. Complete arrangements have now been made and in the near future at the Young Men's Christian association all the members of the six teams, and their managers, will sit at a banquet.

"This banquet will mark the closing of the third year of the league which has been a great success. The Congregational team, who were champions for the first two years, will give up their possession of the silver loving cup and it will be presented to the new winners, the St. Patrick's church five. The committee in charge of the closing gathering have arranged an interesting program. A dinner will be served at six-thirty o'clock, after which will follow the program. H. C. Buell will give an address, "Playing the Game," E. B. Keck, "The Forward Pass," "The Referee's Viewpoint," by Roger Cunningham, and presentation of the cup by H. S. Lovejoy. Other announcements will be made respectively to the continuance of the league next year.

The St. Patrick's are planning to hold a banquet at the Myer's hotel. At the supper the team will have a short informal program and then adjourn and attend the Lakota "Jollies of 1916" at the Myer's theatre in a body.

The church league winners went through the season without a defeat, winning every game by good scores.

MORRIS MILLER

Louis Sepulveda, catcher for the San Francisco team, was ordered to pay $40 a month to his wife for separate maintenance by the superior court there. She asked the court for $100 a month. Sepulveda is said to receive a salary of $250 a month by his wife, whom he secretly married last September. The marriage became public a few days ago when Mrs. Sepulveda filed suit for separate maintenance.

It has always been contended that Umpire Hildebrand should not be worked behind the plate for the reason that he is much too small to be able to see the plate over any of the big catchers in the league. This fact keeps him bouncing from one side to the other in an effort to stay in view of the plate, and incidentally, no man can do himself or the game justice under such conditions.

Billy Evans is one of the few umpires who is down to weight this spring. Evans is twenty pounds lighter than he has ever been as a result of which he is faster than ever in getting on top of plays on which he is forced to give decisions. Evans did a lot of training and dieting this spring, for the specific purpose of reducing his weight, so that he could be in good shape for the campaign.

There is nothing particularly brilliant in the make-up of the Browns and any time any one of the other teams presents good pitching Fielder Jones' team is not apt to be very troublesome.

It seems strange that a team which has so many resources as the Tigers can boast of should have such a hard time finding suitable pitchers. Jennings has for years kept several scouts busy trying to find a pitcher or two who would help him to win another pennant, but he has absolutely failed in this.

Fielder Jones is still wearing a uniform and coaching from the lines. The veteran pilot also put in about ten minutes pitching to his batters in preliminary practice. He used an underhand delivery which had most of his players guessing.

The San Francisco club's decision to carry only two catchers led to the release of George Block and Frank O'Brien, the latter youngster picked up from California independent circles.

For the six games played they piled up a total of one hundred and seventy-four points to their opponents' seventy-four. They ran up their largest score when they played the St. Mary's five with thirty-eight points. The greatest surprise was when they defeated the Methodists. Everything was against the Catholic five at the start of the game but when the whistle blew for time at the end they had a lead of five points over the Methodists. Cassidy and Cushing, the two diminutive forwards, were members of the team and in almost every contest they were the chief scorers. They will undoubtedly be placed on the all-league team.

Nevada McCarthy, who captained the five during the season, was one of the greatest assets to the team. He was in every contest, playing in the center position, and always got in a good number of baskets. The other members of the squad shared the main positions in the different games. William Werrill, teacher at the high school, coached his men and did well in building up such a team. The chances for winning the cup next year will be good if they have the same line-up as they had for most of the games this last winter. Following is their record for their six game schedule:

St. Patrick's.....17	Baptists.....9
St. Patrick's.....16	Presbyterians.....12
St. Patrick's.....20	Methodists.....15
St. Patrick's.....38	St. Mary's.....18
St. Patrick's.....37	Congregationalists.....10
St. Patrick's.....29	Eng. Lutherans.....10
Total.....147	Total.....74

Block caught on with St. Joseph in the Western League.

Jimmy Clark, the pitcher released by Portland, then taken on again and for the second time discarded, has been signed by Great Falls of the Northwestern. Clark says Portland didn't give him a fair chance. Portland also has released Catcher Homer Haworth.

Benny Meyer, who was in the Fed league last year, has given up hope of collecting on his outlaw contract, which still has a year to run and has applied to Salt Lake for a job. He is supposed to revert to Toronto, but they are not using jumpers in the International league, so he is free to go where he can land.

If there is a "Man of Miracles" in the American league list of managers he'll make his appearance this season. Barring the 1906 pennant for the Chicago White Sox and the 1907 pennant for the Detroit Tigers, the American league has not produced surprises like the ones put over in the National league by Stallings in 1914 and Moran in 1915. However don't plunge too deep on the 1916 favorites the Red Sox. The 1916 world champions are today far from certain pennant winners this season. In the field of "Men of Miracles" it is well to elect Bill Donovan, Joe Pohl, Clark Griffith and Pickard Jones, naming them because they do not belong to the pennant selections before the season started. The three favorites were Bill Carrigan, Clarence Rowland and Hughie Jennings.

Eddie Plank is still one of the most effective pitchers in baseball. Plank is one of the veterans of the game. He has been pitching baseball longer than any other left-handed pitcher with the sport, and what is more, he has always been a star. Go back over the list of world series games in which Plank figured while a member of the Mackmen and you will find that he has the most competent and effective record of any of the pitchers that have taken part in these games.

TIGERS PROMISED STRAW HATS IF THEY COME HOME WITH A GOOD AVERAGE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Detroit, Mich., May 18.—Manager Jennings has promised to buy each member of the Detroit Americans a straw hat if the team returns home from the present eastern trip with an average of 500 or better for these games.

A word to the wise—to those who advertise. Use want ads every day; our word for it, they'll surely pay.
